

ACCESSIBILITY AND SAFE SPACES

SUPPORTING THE BARRIER-FREE CANADA ACT

Our consultations are designed to develop an inclusive approach to safe spaces and accessible solutions to include the physically impaired and those with cognitive, mental, intellectual, learning, communication or/and sensory sensitivities and limitations.

Why consult with us?

Neurodivergent advocacy groups like Autism Canada, play a pivotal role in creating a barrier-free Canada by offering valuable insights, feedback, and expertise during the development and revision of regulations. Our collaboration ensures that policies address the specific needs and concerns of the neurodivergent community, fostering inclusivity in public spaces, education, employment, and services.

Through our onsite consultation, policymakers can tailor initiatives to accommodate diverse neurodivergent experiences, contributing to the overall goal of establishing a more accessible and supportive environment for everyone.

Let us help!

- On-site visit and walk-through
- Identify barriers within your space
 - Policy barriers
 - Social barriers
 - Physical barriers
 - Attitudinal barriers
 - Programmatic barriers
 - Transportation barriers
 - Communication barriers
- Tips on building your accessibility plan
- Written recommendations of our suggestions and full report

In-person consultation starting at $1,500

plus travel and accommodations

Contact Us for In Person or Customized Consultations